DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 2-27-03 has been entered.

2. All rejections made in the previous office action and not cited herein are hereby withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 13, line 2, the word "patent" should be "patient".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1 and 14-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cremades et al.

The claims are drawn to a pharmaceutical formulation comprising p-Glu-glu-Pro-NH₂.

The reference of Cremades et al. teach that the peptide pGlu-Glu-Pro -amide was effective in increasing levels of triiodothyronine and tetraiodothyronine when administered subcutaneously to mice (see abstract and page 64). The reference states that pGlu-Glu-Pro was administered at a concentration of 100µg in 300µl of aqueous solution (see page 64, column 2). Thus the reference teach a pharmaceutical formulation of the peptide, as indicative of the subcutaneous administration, with the aqueous solution as the carrier. Thus the reference anticipates the claimed invention.

In their response, Applicants stated that the reference did not teach "about formulations necessary for administering to the central nervous system, or any part thereof." Thus, the reference did not anticipate the claimed invention.

However, the reference teach a composition comprising the same carrier as applicants claims. The MPEP states where the claimed and prior art products are identical or substantially identical in structure or composition, a prima facie case of either anticipation or obviousness has been established. In re Best, 195 USPQ 430, 433 (CCPA 1977). "When the PTO shows a sound basis for believing that the products of the applicant and the prior art are the same, the applicant has the burden of showing that they are not." In re Spada, 15 USPQ2d 1655, 1658 (Fed. Cir. 1990). Therefore, the prima facie case can be rebutted by evidence showing that the prior art products do not necessarily possess the characteristics of the claimed product. In re Best, supra

6. Claim 3, 5, 7, 7-8, 10-11 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
